Bosanko Line - Ford Family Tree

There is other information about the line and those that lead into us which I can provide at a later stage, we are continuing to chase down leads etc. I also have information about Edward and Jane's lives in Australia which I am still developing by chasing down a lost contact etc

You can see I have edited list and stopped at myself to ensure I get consent of those after me on tree where applicable.

The children's dosage is intended for individuals whose weight is less than 40 kg. Children weighing 40 kg or more should be dosed according to the adult recommendation. Each strength of Amoxicillin suspension is available as a chewable tablet for use by older children.

After reconstitution, the required amount of suspension should be placed directly on the child's tongue for swallowing. Alternate means of administration are to add the required amount of suspension to formula, milk, juice, water, ginger ale, or child is drinking. These preparations should then be taken immediately. To be certain the child is receiving full dosage, such preparations should be consumed in entirety.

All patients with gonorrhea should be evaluated for syphilis. (See PRECAUTIONS - Laboratory tests.)

General: It should be recognized that in the treatment of chronic urinary tract infections, frequent bacteriological and clinical appraisals are necessary. Smaller doses than those recommended above should not be used. Even higher doses may be needed at times in stubborn infections. Therapy may be required for several weeks. It may be necessary to continue clinical and/or bacteriological follow-up for several months after cessation of therapy. Except for gonorrhea, treatment should be continued for a minimum of 48 to 72 hours beyond the time that the patient becomes asymptomatic or evidence of bacterial eradication has been obtained. It is recommended that there be at least 10 days of therapy for any infection caused by Streptococcus pyogenes to prevent the occurrence of acute rheumatic fever.

Drug Interactions: Amoxicillin should be given twice daily (q12h) for 14 days. (See INDICATIONS AND USAGE.) The recommended adult oral dose is 1 gram Amoxicillin, 500 mg intravenous, and 30 mg intravenous, each given three times daily (q8h) for 14 days. (See INDICATIONS AND USAGE.) Please refer to contraindications and warnings, and for information regarding dosing in elderly and renally impaired patients.

Dosing recommendations for adults with impaired renal function: Patients with impaired renal function do not generally require a reduction in dose rates. In patients with severe renal impairment, a reduction in dose rates is recommended. The recommended adult oral dose is 1 gram Amoxicillin, 500 mg intravenous, and 30 mg intravenous, each given three times daily (q8h) for 14 days. (See INDICATIONS AND USAGE.) Please refer to contraindications and warnings, and for information regarding dosing in elderly and renally impaired patients.

Directions for Mixing Oral Suspension: Prepare suspension as follows: Tap bottle until all powder flows freely. Add approximately 1/2 of the total amount of water for reconstitution (see table below). Shake vigorously to wet powder. Add remainder of the water and again shake vigorously. Each teaspoonful (5 mL) will contain 250 mg amoxicillin.

Directions for Mixing Pediatric Drops: Prepare pediatric drops as follows: Add the required amount of water (see table below) to the bottle and shake vigorously. Each mL suspension will then contain amoxicillin 250 mg. Each capsule contains 250 mg of amoxicillin.

HOW SUPPLIED: Amoxicillin (amoxicillin) Capsules, Each capsule contains 250 mg of amoxicillin as the trihydrate. Amoxicillin (amoxicillin) Tablets, Each tablet contains 500 mg or 875 mg amoxicillin as the trihydrate.

Amoxicillin (amoxicillin) Capsules, Each capsule contains 250 mg of amoxicillin as the trihydrate. Amoxicillin (amoxicillin) Tablets, Each tablet contains 500 mg or 875 mg amoxicillin as the trihydrate.

The most frequently reported adverse events for patients who received triple therapy (Amoxicillin, clindamycin, and clindamycin) were diarrhea (7%), and taste perversion (5%). No treatment-emergent adverse events were observed at significantly higher rates with triple therapy than with any dual therapy regimen.

No treatment-emergent adverse events were observed at significantly higher rates with triple therapy than with any dual therapy regimen.

OVERDOSEAGE: In case of overdose, discontinue medication, treat symptomatically, and institute supportive measures as required. If the overdose is very recent and there is no contraindication, an attempt at emesis or other means of removal of drug from the stomach may be performed. A prospective study of 51 pediatric patients in a poison-control center suggested that overdoses of less than 250 mg of amoxicillin are not associated with significant clinical symptoms and do not require gastric emptying.

CLINICAL STUDIES

H. pylori eradication to reduce the risk of duodenal ulcer recurrence

Randomized, double-blind clinical studies performed in the U.S. in patients with H. pylori and duodenal ulcer disease (defined as an active ulcer or history of an ulcer within one year) evaluated the efficacy of lansoprazole in combination with amoxicillin capsules and clarithromycin tablets as triple 14-day therapy, or in combination with amoxicillin capsules as dual 14-day therapy, for the eradication of H. pylori. Based on the results of these studies, the safety and efficacy of two different eradication regimens were established:

Triple therapy: amoxicillin 1 gram b.i.d./clarithromycin 500 mg b.i.d./lansoprazole 30 mg b.i.d.

Dual therapy: amoxicillin 1 gram t.i.d./lansoprazole 30 mg t.i.d.

All treatments were for 14 days. H. pylori eradication was defined as two negative tests (culture and histology) at 4 to 6 weeks following the end of treatment.

Triple therapy was shown to be more effective than all possible dual therapy combinations. Dual therapy was shown to be more effective than both monotherapies. Eradication of H. pylori has been shown to reduce the risk of duodenal ulcer recurrence.

Patients were included in the analysis if they completed the study. Additionally, if patients dropped out of the study due to an adverse event related to the study drug, they were included in the analysis as failures of therapy.

William Bosanko Dies;
Funeral to be held Friday

William Bosanko well known local miner died yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock at his home - Winchester Hill following a long and hopeless illness, with the dreaddest tuberculosis. The funeral - be held Friday afternoon from the house at 2 o'clock. With services at the Methodist Church one half hour later. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Foresters

The deceased enjoyed a large acquaintance in the city having made his home here — — — following the occupation of miner. His last employment was at the Empire Mine, but some time ago he was forced to — — — active work, because of ill health. In former circles, Mr Bosanko was also prominent having affiliated with the local Order of Moose and the Ancient Order of Foresters. Deceased was a native of England & at the time of his death was 43 years of age.

In Addition to the widow, four children, two boys and two girls survive.

AY IN GRASS VALLEY

THE MORNING UNION, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1915.

"THE SNOW BURNER" AND CHAPLIN TONIGHT

"The Snow Burner," a photoplay in three parts by Essanay, is the extraordinary offering at the Auditorium tonight. In addition, a two-act Chaplin subject will be shown. In speaking of "The Snow Burner," a stirring picture dealing with a logging camp in the north country wilds, James S. McQuade, a noted critic, has the following to say:

I have nothing but praise for the virile impersonation of "Hell Camp" Rievers by Mr. Calvert. There must be no lily-fingered portrayal of this strong character, and Mr. Calvert knew it. In contrast, the part of "Topsy" Troplin by Mr. Travers is made all the stronger. Gentleman and respector and protector of women as "Topsy" is, his landing of the dreaded boss is made all the more to meet the test of a difficult surgical operation, accepts the position of bookkeeper from "Hell Camp" Rievers, whom once before she had refused as a husband. She had accepted the position, however, without knowing that Rievers was to be her employer. Rievers is unsuspicious in his dealings with women and had thus planned to get even on the old score.

Topsy Troplin, a young man of means, who spends much of his time in hunting chances to meet Helen on her way to "Hell Camp," and resolved to follow her. He finds out the character of the man who is about to become her employer, and hires out as blacksmith's assistant in "Hell Camp," so as to be near the young woman who has awakened such a tender interest in his heart.

WILLIAM BOSANKO DIES; FUNERAL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

William Bosanko, well known local miner, died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at his home on Winchester Hill, following a long and hopeless illness with the dreaded tuberculosis. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the home at 2 o'clock, with services at the Methodist church one half hour later. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

The deceased enjoyed many acquaintances in this city, having made his home here for years, following the occupation of miner. His last employment was at the Empire mine, but some time ago he was forced to give up active work because of ill health. In fraternal circles Mr. Bosanko was also prominent, having been affiliated with the local Order of Moose and the Ancient Order of Foresters. Deceased was a native of England and at the time of his death was 43 years of age.

In addition to the widow, four children, two boys and two girls, survive.

Biliousness and Constipation.
It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets, and they cured me of biliousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.

Many Complaints Healed.
This summer, many persons are complaining of headaches, lame backs, rheumatism, biliousness, and of being "always tired." Acrobats, sailors and all caused by kidneys not doing their work, yield quickly to Peleg Kidney Pills. They help inflammation, ease sound sleep and make you feel better. Overview of Key Elements of the Business

Business Stakeholders: Internal and External

A stakeholder is an individual or group that has a legitimate interest in a company.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Discuss what a business stakeholder is and how they interact with the company

KEY TAKEAWAYS

Key Points

- A corporate stakeholder is a person or group who can affect or be affected by the actions of a business.
- Internal stakeholders are entities within a business (e.g., employees, managers, the board of directors, investors).
- External stakeholders are entities not within a business itself but who care about or are affected by its performance (e.g., consumers, regulators, investors, suppliers).

Key Terms

- corporate stakeholder: A corporate stakeholder is that which can affect or be affected by the actions of the business as a whole.

A corporate stakeholder is an individual or group who can affect or be affected by the actions of a business. The stakeholder concept was first used in a 1963 internal memorandum at the Stanford Research Institute. It defined stakeholders as “those groups without whose support the organization would cease to exist.”

In the last decades of the 20th century, the word “stakeholder” has become more commonly used to refer to a person or group that has a legitimate interest in a project or entity. In discussing the decision-making process for institutions—including large business corporations, government agencies, and non-profit organizations — the concept has been broadened to include everyone with an interest (or “stake”) in what the entity does.

Internal stakeholders are entities within a business (e.g., employees, managers, the board of directors, investors). Employees want to earn money and stay employed. Owners are interested in maximizing the profit the business makes. Investors are concerned about earning income from their investment.

Notes:

• Should we lay off staff if we are in serious financial difficulty? If it is necessary for survival then we have to take the difficult step of making employees redundant. We cannot serve the customers if we cannot survive.

Difficulties surface when we alter the priority list, e.g. when we put the shareholders first and milk the business of profits. Or when the employees are seen as more important than the customers. We sometimes see this in some offices where staff are too busy with their own affairs to look after the customer. A big problem arises if item 2 on the list above is split and becomes 2a senior executives and 2b ordinary employees. This can lead to a situation where the executive team puts its own requirements first – especially in terms of bonus, stock options and other monetary rewards. We have seen recent examples of how divisive and provocative this can be.

We want staff at all levels from the lowest to the most senior to act as a team, to be motivated and well rewarded – but not overpaid. If we overpay then we increase our cost base unnecessarily and put at risk price competitiveness in the marketplace and profitability. It is essential to strike the right balance between the needs of the different stakeholders, but some are more important than others. If we can be clear about priorities in advance then it will help us to resolve the tricky conflicts that will arise sooner or later.

Comment below posted for a Business Ethics assignment:

I contend that Mr Drucker is incorrect, a CEO and his executive team should not have to balance the demands of the stakeholders, their role is solely to meet the rights of the stockholders which will then allow them to decide how profits from investment can be used to benefit others – therefore there is no need to consider what the pecking order of these stakeholders are.

Stakeholder Concept Theory (developed by Mr R Edward Freeman) would have us believe that businesses have a duty to care for all stakeholders ie those that are affected by the business itself. The concept assumes that the businesses are run by (and decisions made by) management who are separate from the business owners themselves (Management are appointed by the stockholders to represent them and whose main purpose is to maximise profits).

What is a stakeholder you may ask? In a narrow sense, stakeholders include stockholders, customers, employees, suppliers, the local community and Government. In a wider sense this could also include the environment; future employees, suppliers, and customers; and could also include the nation and beyond. In fact the list could be never-ending and that in itself creates a problem with the Stakeholder Concept Theory. The various stakeholders may also be one and the same people, especially in smaller communities (eg employees may also be customers) – how does a business deal with the conflicting needs of one person?

According to John Hasnas (“Normative Theories of Business Ethics”) a business person's ordinary responsibilities are to manage the business and expend business resources so as to accomplish the specific purposes for which the business was organised”. Of course if a business was set up by stockholders to satisfy the needs of some/all stakeholders Mr Drucker's discussion is valid. In reality businesses are not generally organised for such purposes

The alternative to Stakeholder Concept Theory is Stockholder Concept Theory (or Profit Maximisation Theory) and was developed by Milton Friedman. This theory will have us believe that the stockholder is the only person(s) whose needs should be considered when making decisions. The basis behind this is that the stockholder is the one that has invested their money in the business and use of that by management for anything other than is required by law or is considered ethical (by engaging in open and free competition without deception or fraud) that does not lead to profit maximisation, is in effect “theft” or a “tax” on the stockholders investment. Even taking into account the good that such use of these funds might have (as would be considered by Utilitarian's) what right does management have to decide who should benefit from these funds, what knowledge do they have of where social spending is required – it is our elected Government's role to decide where and how taxes are spent.

As stated above the theory states that business must operate within the law and ethically. Effectively this means that companies cannot do whatever they want just to increase profits. New Zealand laws are being continuously developed to cover the rights of stakeholders: employees – covered by Employment Laws and the ever increasing Health and Safety Laws; customers are covered by the Sale of Goods Act which includes ensuring they get a safe and “suitable for purpose product”. The various stakeholders all have a free choice whether or not to deal with the business which in itself gives them more options than a stockholder. Some would argue that stockholders can also choose whether or not to invest in businesses – it can be much more difficult for stockholders to get their money out of a business and, if they wish to do so quickly, may make a loss on their investment.

Note the Profit Maximisation theory does not prevent management from making decisions which concern stakeholders if they are decisions that would help increase profits for the business. For example the BNZ's “Closed for Good”. Every branch is closed and the employees go out and do “good deeds” – the employees choose what they will do and where they will do it. Is this an example of management deciding that the stockholders money will be used to help others in the community? Can this be considered a fair and ethical use of their money – what about the inconvenience to the bank's customers, the fact that suppliers are missing out on the use of their services? Could the money used to pay the staff be used for what others would consider a better use? Is this type of “charitable work” done solely for the goodness it provides or is it just a form of business “pulling on New Zealanders” heartstrings as a means to boost their profits by encouraging clients to trade with a “Bank that cares for others” in which case the Stockholder Concept Theory would find it acceptable – such social spending ie getting on side with the community can have a positive effect on profits but the reason for such expenditure should first and foremost be to maximise profits.

Some may argue that businesses have greater representation at Government level and may move their business to countries where labour is cheaper and there are less environment laws – I would argue that the Profit Maximisation theory still require businesses to act ethically – and who is to say that providing employment in countries that have a vast population and low levels of living standards is any less ethical.

If business profits are not maximised then stockholders may withdraw their funds to invest in more profitable businesses. This in turn would have an effect on the stakeholders – company share prices may fall thus making it difficult for them to raise funds which could further reduce the businesses profitability. The effect is spiralling and the end result may mean the closing down of the business, if it is an essential product/service this may cause

CHARMING HOUSE CEREMONY UNITED POPULAR COUPLE

In the quietness of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Willoughby, 321 South Church street, early last evening, their daughter, Miss Una Willoughby, became the bride of Percy Bosanko with all the charm and informality of a home ceremony.

Rev. David Ralston of the Oroville Methodist Episcopal Church, former Grass Valley pastor and a very close friend of the Willoughby family, tied the nuptial knot before a small group of happy and admiring family members.

Gathered beneath the huge white bell which formed the center of decorative effort along with flowers and greenery were the bridal party which include Mrs. Esther Harris, sister of the bride as bridesmaid, and W. Edward Bosanko, brother of the groom, as best man.

Miss Willoughby wore an attractive gown of yellow flat crepe with a lace yoke and carried a bridal bouquet of yellow tea roses and pale blue delphinium. Mrs. Harris wore grey flat crepe and chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Completion of the marriage vows saw the newly married couple and immediate family members gathered about an attractively decorated dinner table for a delightful wedding dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bosanko will spend their honeymoon in San Francisco but will return to this city to make their home.

The bride and groom are popular among young Grass Valley people and known well and favorably to practically the entire population. Both have been particularly active in the work of the Methodist Church and the Epworth League, both in this county and Placer county. Both have been practically lifelong residents of the city, students in the local schools and have followed vocations in recent years.

The former Miss Willoughby has been one of the popular clerks of Bert's Dry Goods store for several years. Mr. Bosanko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Ann Bosanko, 126 Winchester street, has been in the employ of the Nevada Irrigation District through several administrations and is now the assistant hydrographer for the water utility.

Grass Valley's Jigsaw Artist

A MASTER OF MARQUETRY

In 15 hours, Percy turned out this coffee table containing Australian lacewood, South African amaranth, Alaskan cedar, African rosewood, zebra wood, Burmese padauk, oak, redwood burl, incense cedar, Honduras mahogany and ironwood.

See the graining? Isn't it pretty?" Percy Bosanko's big fists gently cradle his work of art: a deer family carved delicately from a thin slab of deep brown mahogany. His warm eyes are sparkling with pride.

With a Cornish lilt, the retired PG&E hydraulic engineer turned master woodworker confides, "Experience is a good teacher. You learn by your mistakes ... and I've made plenty of 'em."

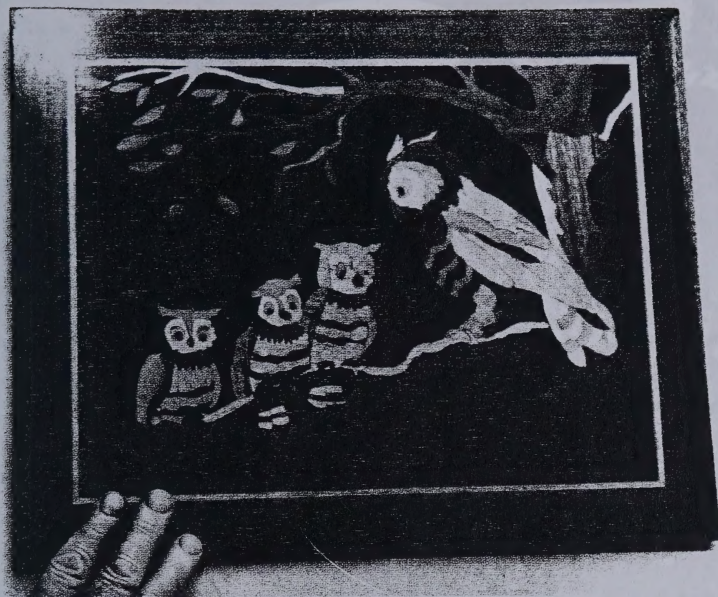

But no mistakes are evident in the beautifully inlaid furniture and scenic wood pictures filling the tidy pink-and-gray home of the 74-year-old Grass Valley native.

A self-taught master of marquetry — the art of decorative inlaying which dates from the days of the Roman Empire — Bosanko got started with his lucrative hobby about 35 years ago, after reading about it in a magazine ad.

"I had nobody to teach me," he recalls. "I just worked at it off and on until I retired from PG&E's Auburn office in 1969 — then I really went to town!" ➔

Using a fine jeweler's blade on his jigsaw, it took Percy Bosanko 6 hours to cut this delicate silhouette in mahogany from his own pattern.

"It took me 40 hours to make this family of owls," says Percy.

"I used mahogany, ironwood, holly, and birch from West Africa."

Indeed, his intricately inlaid works, cut on a jigsaw with a "very fine jeweler's blade," fetch a handsome price and are much in demand by his Grass Valley neighbors. "I've sold some of my work," says Bosanko, mentioning three of his exquisitely fashioned jewelry boxes which brought $45 each last Christmas.

Up about 6 a.m. every day, he first tends the garden at the rear of his three-quarter-acre lot, then spins out furniture, toys, unique puzzles and wooden pictures in his workshop until noon.

"After lunch, I take a nap, goof off awhile, and then figure out what I'm gonna do tomorrow. It keeps the cobwebs out of my brain."

Bosanko, one of California's pioneer Sierra snowpack surveyors, says his first love was carpentry. After his 1927 graduation from Grass Valley High, he built homes awhile before the Depression forced him to a ditch tender's job with Nevada Irrigation District, a post that soon led him into wooden cross-country skis.

"In those days we had no helicopters or over-snow vehicles," he says. "With 50-pound packs and bundles of snow tubes, we'd ski from Emigrant Gap and end up at Sierra Valley, a trip of 70 miles that took five days, weather permitting. Sometimes my partner and I would get snowed in for two weeks at a time. Once we got caught in a blizzard and had to spend a night in the snow at 8,500-foot elevation."

Bosanko took an engineering correspondence course, enabling him to serve as water master and hydrographer for more than 20 years with NID.

Then, in 1952, he was recruited to PG&E by his late friend, water-systems chief John Spaulding, who had first offered him a job in 1936. From '52 to 1966, Bosanko calibrated stream flows system-wide working out of General Office, then did similar work out of Auburn until his retirement in 1969.

"I also maintained weather stations, looked into water rights, helped supply

"I really believe a busy person's a happy person" stream information to the U.S. Geological Survey, and saw that PG&E met requirements for Federal Power Licensing. It was a very interesting job, and I enjoyed it immensely."

Today, with the same professional precision honed throughout his long career, Bosanko immerses himself in his woodcraft.

"I really believe a busy person's a happy person," he says. "I try to limit myself because of a slight heart condition, but I just love to work."

Never one to idly putter, Bosanko in recent years added a family room to his home, built a dandy greenhouse in his manicured backyard and has even rigged it electronically to water his wife Una's plants on alternate days.

His principal passions, however, continue to be his wife, his woodworking and his son Robert, a former PG&Eer in East Bay who now is chief of plant operations at San Jose State University.

"Robert's a good boy," Bosanko says modestly. But the same pride he takes in all of work is there, shining through those gentle eyes. ☆

"You need a good eye, steady hands, and patience for marquetry," says Bosanko, holding one of his intricately inlaid jewelry boxes. The star-shape hot-pads are very popular items.

Long before he took up woodworking, Bosanko worked as a ditch tender. This photo shows him on the job in the High Sierra in 1928.

Ralph Harris and Esther Willoughby Harris

Obituaries

Nancy C. Evans

Funeral services were held at the Janesville Cemetery for Nancy Colleen Evans, who died at her home in Janesville, April 27. She was 42.

Mrs. Evans was born at Loma Linda but had lived in the Susanville area for the last 18 years. She left family in the Grass Valley area.

Survivors include her husband, Les, formerly of Grass Valley; a son, Terry of Susanville; a daughter, Julie of Janesville; her parents, Pete and Ruth Christman of Robbins; a sister, Sherry Bjordahl of Silver Springs, Nev.; and maternal grandparents, Mark and Georgie Young of Grass Valley.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society are requested.

Michelle M. Sheldon

Graveside services for newborn Michelle Marie Sheldon will be held 1 p.m., Wednesday, at Sierra Memorial Lawn Cemetery, Nevada City. She died Thursday at a Sacramento medical facility.

Survivors include her parents, Michael and Kimberly; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albin L. Larson, of Norwich, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Seward W. Sheldon of Grass Valley; great-grandmother Sara J. Allen of Onawa, Iowa; and numerous uncles, aunts and cousins.

Esther E. Harris

Funeral services for Esther Eileen Harris of Santa Cruz will be held 11 a.m., Tuesday, at the Grass Valley chapel of Hooper & Weaver Mortuary. She died at 79 on Friday at a medical facility in Santa Cruz.

Interment will follow in the Greenwood Memorial Gardens Cemetery. Rev. Judson Gears, pastor of the United Methodist Church in Grass Valley will officiate.

A native of Mount Hawk, Cornwall, England, she moved to Grass Valley in 1917 and lived here until she married her late husband, Ralph, in Sacramento in 1927.

After many years in Santa Cruz where Mr. Harris worked for the U.S. Postal Service, the couple retired to Grass Valley in 1958. On her husband's death in 1975, she returned to Santa Cruz. She was active in the Methodist Church in Grass Valley, a 50-yr member of the Eastern Star, and a charter member of the Nevada County Flower Arrangers.

Survivors include: a daughter, Euna Marie Harris of San Jose; a sister, Euna Bosanko of Grass Valley; and numerous nephews and nieces.

Harvey Hazelwood

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Grass valley chapel of Hooper & Weaver Mortuary for Harvey Hazelwood of Nevada City, who died Sunday at a Grass Valley medical facility. He was 94.

Hugh M. McIntosh

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Grass Valley chapel of Hooper & Weaver Mortuary for Hugh M. McIntosh of Smartville, who died in a rural Nevada County residence. He was 78.

Chuck Wagon Grills, Inc., makes a single product—a handmade specialty barbecue grill that it sells for $205. Data for last year's operations follow.

Units in beginning inventory	0
Units produced	10,000
Units sold	9,200
Units in ending inventory	800
Variable costs per unit:
Direct materials	$ 61
Direct labor	36
Variable manufacturing overhead	12
Variable selling and administrative	15
Total variable cost per unit	$ 124
Fixed costs:
Fixed manufacturing overhead	$ 310,000
Fixed selling and administrative	525,000
Total fixed costs	$ 835,000

Required:

1. Assume that the company uses absorption costing. Compute the unit product cost for one barbecue grill.

Unit product cost $ 140

2. Assume that the company uses absorption costing. Prepare an income statement.

Chuck Wagon Grills, Inc.
Absorption Costing Income Statement
Sales	$ 1,886,000
Cost of goods sold	1,288,000
Gross margin	598,000
Selling and administrative expenses	663,000
Net operating income (loss)	$ (65,000)

Garrison 15e Recheck 2014-12-17

Explanation:

Under absorption costing, all manufacturing costs (variable and fixed) are included in product costs.

Direct materials	$ 61
Direct labor	36
Variable manufacturing overhead	12
Fixed manufacturing overhead ($310,000 ÷ 10,000 units)	31
Absorption costing unit product cost	$ 140

2.

Sales = 9,200 units × $205 per unit = $1,886,000

Cost of goods sold = 9,200 units × $140 per unit = $1,288,000

Selling and administrative expenses = $525,000 + 9,200 units × $15 per unit = $663,000

Subject: [Redruth] Bazeley brothers of St Breock

Date: Tue, 25 Mar 2003 17:16:43 -0000

Hi

Michael and Samuel Bazeley (both born in St Breock) were working as miners in the Redruth area and married local girls.

Michael married Alice Besanka(sic) in 1863 at the Chapel of St John Camborne and Samuel married a Mary Jane Michell the following year at the Wesleyan Chapel Copperhouse Redruth.

In

the 1871 census returns Alice is shown living with her children at Crowan and in 1881 at Camborne. (Michael was staying in St Breock with his mother)

In 1883 Alice emigrated to Wisconsin to join Michael.

At some time after his marriage Samuel moved to Hindley near Wigan (presumably his wife Mary Jane had died) and in 1881 he was living at Hindley with another wife Louise and with children from Redruth and Wigan.

I have not been able to trace the death of Mary Jane in Cornwall. Is anyone tracing the Michell family who knows what happened to her?

Ray Bazley

Dear Karen,

Thankyou for the reply. I do have Alice Bosanko Marriage certificate copy from Redruth. Alice's last name is spelt on it as Besanka (I know how spelling varies, and I do believe it should be spelt Bosanko) The marriage was on Nov 7th 1863 and Alice is listed as 21 years of age. Her residence is listed as Carwinnen and her father is listed as Thomas Besanka (again the spelling) She and Michael Bazeley age 23 a stone mason living at Stennack, son of William Baseley a Labourer were married in the Chapel of St John, Parish of Camborne, in the County of Cornwall. The marriage was witnessed by William SINCOCK, and Wearne DUNSTAN. The marriage was performed by George T. RULE

If you can offer anything further please let me know.
jhanlonwa@msn.com

Sincerely,
Juliee

Thank you for your reply. Alice (Bosanko) Bazley emigrated to the US 19 June 1883 at the age of 40 from a port in Liverpool Eng. She traveled with her surviving children, Michael J. Bazely (7), William Bazely(16), Ann Bazely(18), Elizabeth J Bazely(2), and Mary J. Bazeley(10). (ages as listed on manifest)

I have not tried the Bosanko list, but will do so. Alice settled in Florence WI, with her children. As adults they moved into Iron County, living in Iron River, Iron Mountain, Crystal Falls, Stambaugh, Bates, and surrounding towns.

Comments:

I am researching early settlers graves at Clareville. Carterton. NZ. many came from West Country. Tom from Egloshayle and St.Breock. I have been sent Family Tree for this name from a connection in NZ. Researching all Settlers, log into Carterton Historical Society please for more information. Many thanks. Adele. A mammoth but intriguing task!!! All will be lodged with the Society when completed.

Comments:

I am interested in the Bazley/Bazeley/Bazely families who lived in St Breock during the 19th century. John & Susannah and their seven children came from Withiel/Lanivet and when John died aged 33 the children were all apprenticed out to local farmers. Some married into local families, Rounceval, Camps and Lewarne whilst others moved to the south coast and married at Phillleigh

- ID: I39
- Name: William BASELY
- Sex: M
- Birth: 7 APR 1717 in St Columb Major Cornwall
- Note:

Register entry for marriage to Elizabeth Rawe describes William as "of Milton Damerel" but I have not been able to find any mention of him in that Devon parish. This William appears to be the most likely moving back to St Columb after the death of his first wife and their son

- Note:

In 1768 William was Overseer of the North Quarter of St Columb Major

- ID: I29
- Name: Thomas BAZELY
- Sex: M
- Birth: 24 MAR 1682 in St Columb Major Cornwall
- Death: 21 JUL 1749 in St Columb Major Cornwall
- Note:

Thomas mentioned in St Columb Green Book in 1728 when he was paid 10 shillings for expenses

- Note:

How he met Mildred is not known but like his father and brother he could have been a mason and might have gone to Plymouth Dock (Devonport) to work on the extension of the Dockyard which was taking place at that time

- Note:

One less likely scenario was that he was a sailor. There are records in the IGI of a Thomas & Mildred Basly with children born in Kent over the same period but I have not been able to check these yet. Also of a Thomas and Mellory having a daughter Elizabeth baptised in Bideford on 1 1 1714 (where Mildred was born)

- Name: William BASLY
- Sex: M
- Birth: 16 AUG 1657 in St Gluvias Cornwall
- Death: 21 AUG 1723 in St Columb Major Cornwall
- Occupation: Mason
- Note:

Green book of St Columb shows William as Constable in 1696 and doing building work 1713-18. In 1710 he was a Waywarden. During his lifetime he accumulated some property in the town of St Columb leased from the Arundell family. The leases are based on the lives of his sons Solomon, William and Michael but do not mention his eldest son Thomas. Of his eight children only Solomon and Thomas were alive when he died in 1723

- Note:

In his will he left £6 pa to his wife, £1.50 pa to Thomas one shilling to each grandchild and the residue to Solomon
